POETRY.

I Have no Mother Now.

I hear the soft wind sighing
Through every bush and tree
Where now dear mother 's lying,
Away from love and me.
Tears from mine eyes are starting,
And sorrow shades my brow;
Oh, weary was our parting—
I have no mother now!

I see the pale moon shining
On mother's white head-stone—
The rose bush round it twining
Is here—like me—alone:
And just like me are weeping
These dew-drops from the bough;
Long time has she been sleeping—
I have no mother now!

My heart is ever lonely,
My life is drear and sad;
'Twas her dear presence only
That made my spirit glad.
From morning until evening
Care rests upon my brow;
She 's gone from earth to Heaven—
I have no mother now!

BOYS HELP YOUR MOTHER.—We have seen from two to six great hearty boys sitting by the kitchen stove toasting their feet, and cracking nuts or jokes, while their mother, a slender woman, has gone to the wood pile for wood, to the well for water, or to the meat house to cut frozen steak for dinner; this is not as it should be. There is much work about the house too hard for women. Heavy lifting, hard, extra steps, which should be done by those more able. Boys, don't let your mother do it all, especially if she is a feeble woman. Dull, prosy house work is irksome enough, at the best. It is a long work too, it being impossible to tell when it is quite done, and then on tomorrow the whole is to be gone over again. There is more of it than one is apt to think. We wish some busy, all-day-house-worker, the arrangement of whose house is about as inconvenient as it can be, a no uncomon state of things, would count her steps for one day, and then let us have the result in miles; let it be noted how many times she goes to the cellar, to the wood pile, to the pump, up and down stairs, and especially how many times from the stove to the buttery.—Morning Star.

DIET OF NAPOLEON.—The frugality of Napoleon was such that his taste gave the preference to the most simple and least seasoned dishes; as œufs au mirroir and haricots en salade. His breakfast was always composed of one of those dishes, a little Parmesan cheese. At dinner he ate very little, rarely of ragouts, and always of wholesome things. I have often heard him say, "that however little nourishment people took at dinner, they always took too much." Thus his head was always clear, and his labor easy, even when he rose from the table. Gifted by nature with a healthy stomach, his nights were as calm as those of an infant; nature also, had bestowed on him a constitution so admirably suited to his station that a single hour's sleep would restore him after twenty-four hours' fatigue. In the midst of the most serious and urgent events, he had the power of resigning himself to sleep at leisure, and his mind enjoyed the most perfect calm, as soon as directions were given for the necessary arrangements.

EVEN in prayer we may grow selfish, hence the Savior teaches us to say "Our Father," and carries the plural all through the model he gives us. Often we need to forget ourselves, and especially when we think our case at the worst, and have fallen into a perfect bewilderment of doubt. At such a time, to seek and to dwell upon suitable objects of prayer outside of us, is like emerging from a confined, dark chamber, to the living freshness and glorious prospect of the mountain's brow. The heart expands as it takes in its brother Christians and its brother man, as it pleads before God the woes of a race of fellowbeings, as it wrestles with him for the fulfillment of his great promises to the church, and breathes forth, in varied forms, the petition, "Thy kingdom come."—*Amer. The Home Shadow.

BY MRS. M. F. AMES.

"Why don't he come?" asked little Mrs. Osman of herself, as she looked down the lane for the twentieth time, at least, toward the village, the spires of which could be seen not a mile off. And then she went into the little dining-room where the tea table was spread out so cosily between two windows.

The cloth was so white, the silver and cutlery so bright, and the cake—Edward would certainly say:

"What nice cake, Fanny!"

And the butter! Didn't she work it herself, and put that pineapple stamp upon it? But her biscuit! they would certainly be spoiled If he did not come soon. What did make him stay so? It was an hour past their usual time.

"Oh! he has got to talking politics, and has forgotten how late it is—and me too;" and the little head dropped on the window sill, and tears were in the blue eyes.

For a moment she sat thus, and then rising, she wiped her eyes, and thought aloud, as was her habit when alone and a little excited.

"I will do it for once, anyway. If he misses me at the table it may make him think; and if he does not, why it is no matter;" and ringing a little bell on the table, a tidy looking servant girl made her appearance.

"You may bring in the tea, Sarah."

The girl looked surprised, but went out, and soon returned with the tea and warm biscuit, and placed them on the table. As soon as she had gone, Mrs. Osman seated herself and partook of the inviting meal she had prepared for herself and husband. Perhaps she was just a little careful not take the fairest biscuit, and cut under a little, that she might not mar the outlines of the pictured pineapple on the golden butter; although she would have ignored any such design if it had been imputed to her. Her repast over, she called Sarah and said:

"Take these things back to the kitchen, and when Mr. Osman returns, bring them to the table again. I am going out for a little while;" and putting on her sun-bonnet, she passed out, and to a neighbor's a few rods distant. It was dim twilight when she returned, and her husband was drumming a tattoo on the same window she had looked forth from so wearily before tea.

"Why, Edward! how dismal it seems! Why do you not have a light?"

"I had not thought of it. But where have you been, my dear?"

"Oh, I ran over to chat a little while with Mrs Mertor, after tea."

Before a week had passed, the same thing occurred again. Mr. Osman came half an hour too late for tea—the dinner hour he seldom missed—and found cold tea and a soiled plate where his wife had taken her meal, and was obliged to sit down alone to his supper. He felt a little uneasy. Did she intend to neglect him? He did not like to think so. She had always seemed careful of his comfort, and if she only paused to consider, she must know that such a thing would certainly annoy him. Could it be that she was acquiring a taste for gossipping? Hardly possible. She was ever so reseved in her conversation. And then she must go out just at tea time—the very time she ought to be at home. He was quite bewildered. But he could not give the matter much thought; politics were the all-important subjects to be discussed; and every afternoon, when the mail came in, found Mr. Osman at the post-office, to listen to and talk of the news of the Presidential contest; while his wife plodded wearily on in her domestic routine. She soon became weary of her experiment of leaving him to his solitary meal, for, knowing that she would not wait for him, he ceased to mind the tea hour in the least, and would remain discussing his favorite topic until evening had set in, and then return to his wife, loaded with political papers to read over in silence.

"Have you nothing there which will bear reading aloud?" she said one evening, as she sat stitching, busily.

"Oh! yes, my dear, here is a speech on non-intervention, that is ahead of anything you ever heard. I will read it to you, with the greatest pleasure. I wish you was more interested in politics." And she was obliged to hear it to the end.

"How do you like it?" he asked.

"I hardly know. I presume I do not appreciate it; it seems dry to me. I wish you would take some other paper besides those political ones."

"Certainly, if you wish; but I thought your magazine was all you needed. What would you like?"

"The Philadelphia dollar paper; we had it at home, and it comes so full of good things every week; it would seem like old times to have it myself."

"All right, I will send to-morrow for it. Any other reading matter that you would like?"

"No, thank you," and her eyes grew bright at the promised pleasure.

The village cemetery was between Mr. Osman's dwelling and the village, and the next evening, returing home, as he passed the cemetery he observed his wife, who had just entered it. He well knew she would go, and waited until she had passed on to the little mound where their tiny bud had been laid away to wither. After giving her time to stay alone for a few minutes by the little grave, he followed her. She was weeping pasionately—more so than he had known her to do since the earth had fallen upon their little treasure, their only child.

"Fanny, Fanny, dear," he said very gently. She looked up, but his face seemed only to renew her tears. and it was many minutes before he could in the least soothe her.

"Oh, Edward!" she sobbed, "I am so lonely! It seems sometimes as if I should die. I hoped so much from the baby, and it is a year to-day since he was laid here. Poor little Eddy! Why could he not have been spared me, to cheer my loneliness."

Gently he drew her from the little bed, now fast falling into shadow, and passing his arm around her, they walked slowly homeward.

"Why, what a little thing you are!" he said, hoping to beguile her thoughts. "I believe you are growing thin. I am afraid you do not take out-door exercise enough. I must take you out riding. It has been a long time since I have taken you in a carriage. Let me see, when was the last time?"

It was an unlucky allusion, and the wife said shiveringly and in a whisper—

"It was the day Eddy was buried. I rode to his grave."

The husband was silent. A whole year, and he had never taken her to ride once. And then thought of the days of his wooing; and of how he had won her like a bird from its nest—from among loving brothers and sisters and indulgent parents, and brought her to his secluded home to pine for companionship and association. She was but eighteen when married, and had been a wife but three years, and pas already fading. The little hand he held was thin, and the joints sharp. Edward Osman was a man of impulse; to think was to act, and a week from that time he was seated with his wife in her mother's pleasant parlor, while kindred gathered around them with warm words of welcome. The pleasant visit brought the roses to her cheeks and the smile to her lip more effectually than any other panacea could have done. And when they returned to their really pleasanr home, it was with similar feelings with which they had at first entered it in their early wedded days. Mr. Osman's Presidential candidate was defeated, but his delightful home, now that he tried to make it cheerful, soon caused him to forget his disappointment, and his political papers are laid aside any time for Mrs. Osman's neutral one.

A COUNTRY BAR ROOM.—Irving says that the only temple of true liberty in this world is the bar room of a country inn; an institution where you may pull off your formality with your boot, roll up your trowsers with your cares, and puff away at your troubles with a pipe, without any fear that a broomstick will call your attention to the carpet, or dark complexion frowns remind you of the injurious effect of the tobacco juice on the stove hearth. The parlor will do for those who are brought up under despotism; but to a man who has once fed on democracy, there is no spot in the world where he can enlarge the area of freedom with less fear of raising an insurrection than in the snug, cozy corner of a country bar room.

"PERSEVERENCE," said a lady very earnestly to a servant, "is the only way to accomplish great things." One day eight dumplings were sent down stairs, and they all disappeared.

"Sally, where are all of those dumplings?"

"I managed to get through with 'em, ma'am."

"Why, how on earth did you contrive to eat so many dumplings?"

"By perseverence, ma'am," said Sally.

FIVE great enemies to peace inhabit with us—viz: Avarice, ambition, envy, anger and pride, and that if those enemies were to be banished, we should infallibly enjoy perpetual peace.—Petrarch.

"STEEL your heart," said a considerate father to his son, "for you are going now among some fascinating girls."

"I had much rather steal theirs," said the promising young man.

DISDAIN not your inferior, though poor; since he may possibly be much your superior in wisdom, and the noble endowments of the mind.

Troubles of a Shy Man.

The shy man par excellence—the man inveterately, indiosyncratically shy—is exposed to perils at every angle of his sensitive, manysided conformation. His servants disregard him—he is too shy to tell them of their faults. His very friendships wound him—the very benefits he confers are so awkwardly given that they are resented as injuries He looses the object of his affection because he is too bashful to woo. He is snapt up by a masculine shrew, who insists upon having him because she foresees she can rule him. As soon as he is married, he is at his wife's mercy—a woman is seldom merciful to the man who is timid.

If he ever shines in a career, it is by sheer merit of so rare an order that it lights up its owner in spite of himself. But whether in the world or in his household, he weaves a solitude round him. He is shy to his very children. His new-born babe stares him out of countenance.

Providence, so mindful of all its creature, bestows on the shy man two properties for selfe defense. The first is dissimulation. As frankness is the very reverse of shyness, so to be uniformly shy is to be habitually secret. The poor wretch does not mean to be deceitful, but he cannot help it. He sometimes astounds those who think they know him best, by what appears at the surface to be the blackest perfidy. He suffers annoyances to accumulate without implying by a word that he even feels them, until he can beare them no longer. Then suddenly he absconds, shuts himself up in some inaccessible fortress, and has recourse to his pen, with which, safe at a distance, his shyness corrupts into ferocity. It was but the other day that a shy acquaintance of mine threw his family into consternation, by going off, none knew whither, and sending his lawyer with a deed of separation to the unsuspecting wife, who for ten years had tormented him without provoking a syllable of complaint.

Another safeguard to the shy man, is in the contagion of Shyness that he communicates to others. It is difficult not to feel shy, when in company with the shy. They give you no opening to the business which you wish to transact with them. As Plutarch says, "They will not look you in the face." It seems, while you talk, as if they suspected you to be a pickpocket. Therefore, unconsciously to yourself, but from your natural desire to prove yourself an honest man, you soften in their favor the terms you otherwise would have proposed. Nor is this all: for if they have certain claims to respect, natural or acquired, such as high birth, supereor wealth, reputation for learning sancity or genius, their timidity inspires you with awe. You mistake it for pride. The atmosphere around him, if withering to cordial friendship, is equally repellant of intrusive presumption. They take liberties with no one; it would be a monstrous impertinence to take liberties with them. These, unquestionably are safeguards to a creature otherwise helpless. The self-conservation of bold animals is in boldness; of timid, in timidity.

I have been treating here of the man incorrigibly, permanently shy. But a large proportion of us are shy in early life, and cease to be so as we live on; and many of us remain, to a certain degree, shy to the last, but not so shy as to be emphatically shy.

In youth our individual position is uncertion and dubious. Be our birth ever so ancient, our fortune ever so large, still our own personal merit remains to be assessed, and a proud or sensitive nature will be desirous of an approbation for something distinct from a pedigree or a rent-roll. Nay, amongst the young, in England especially, Shyness will be found more prevalent with the high-born than the plebeian. The plebeian, who has in him the force and desire to shoulder his own way through the crowd, more often errs by the rude eagerness to combat, than the refining anxiety to please.

Vigorous competition is the best cure for a morbid excess of Shyness.—Caxtoniana.

WEAK doses of wash-boards are now recommended by physicians for ladies who complain of dyspepsia. Young men troubled in the same way may be cured by a strong preparation of saw horse.

WE should not forsake a good work because it does not advance with a rapid step. Faith in virtue, truth and Almighty goodness, will save us alike from rashness and d spair.

HOW is it that the palms and soles of a negro's hands and feet are always white? Because they stand on all four's when the devil paints them.

ONE day last summer a farmer in Illinois cradled three acres of wheat, and that night his wife, not to be outdone by him, cradled three babies.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, JULY 5, 1862.

Justices Blanks.

Blank Affidavits, Undertakings, Writ of Attachmsnt and Subpœnas, under the NEW LAW, for Sale at this Office.

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a correct legal orm for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislrture, with the acknowledgement attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS Office. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgement and record.

Improvements.

It is gratifying to observe the steady growth of our town, which is apparent in the improvements which are constantly taking place. New buildings are in progress of construction constantly, and some of a substantial character. Mr. A. Mills is putting up a brick in place of his wooden store; Mr. Duston made an addition to his brick shop, and is building a large and commodious dwelling. Other substantial improvements are going on, which prove beyond question that our growth is not only rapid, but a healthy, permanent increase which is demanded by the increasing trade and importance of the place, and surrounded as we are by the best agricultural and grain growing section in the State, and situated on the river open to navigation at all seasons, we must, in the course of a few years, according to all the natural laws of trade and commerce, be a large and flourishing town, and the only one of any importance in Yolo county.

A Chance for Speculators.

Next week our immense crops of wheat will commence coming into market; and as they are of the finest quality every raised in this, or any other State, and at least three times as great in quantity as Yolo ever produced before, there is a good opening to invest money in this great staple. Our farmers must sell a portion at least of their crops at once, to defray current expenses, and when that much is disposed of, and these pressing demands provided for, the remainder of the crop will, in all probability, be held by the raisers for the advance which inevitably takes place during the winter months.

LARGE WHEAT.—Mr. John Loughnower brought to our office a bunch of Wheat, the product of one grain, which contained one hundred and five heads of wheat, and the combined weight of the grain from the one seed, is eleven ounces. It is of the variety known as clud wheat. Mr. L. has a field of fifty acres, which is estimated will yield seventy bushels to the acre.

OUR patriotic citizens not to be entirely outdone by other places, in the celebration of the Fourth, raised several flags, and while we write, they are engaged in firing anvils, to the memory of the day when the Declaration of Independence was made public, and a new nation was born.

STATE FAIR.—The State Fair is announced to commence on Sept. 30th, at Sacramento, and positively to close on Oct. 3d. Every thing will be in readiness at that time, and all entries for premiums must be made prior to the 30th September.

CHANGE OF DAYS.—The California Steam Navigation Company's Boats leave Sacramento every Wednesday and Saturday, for Knight's landing and Red Bluff.

EMIGRATION.—The Carson City Silver Age of June 27th says:

J. R. Cross of this city, yesterday received a telegraphic dispatch from his father, Isaac Cross, who was then at Pacific Spring, en route for this place. Mr. Cross is from Chilicothe, Missouri, and has crossed the Plains three times. He reports the emigration as being larger this year than any year since 1850. In his train, from Chilicotha, there are about fifteen families, including his own. This is a very fair outpouring for one small town.

From a letter received at this office, from Doniphan, Kansas, we learn of the departure of eleven wagons and seventeen men—mostly with families—destined for Yolo county, and they estimate the emigration to our Golden State as unprecedentedly large. The troubles in the West is having the effect of populating California.

Get Out of Debt.

The fact is now beyond peradventure that we will have exceedingly large crops in this section, and farmers will thereby be placed in easy circumstances financially, and many will have a surplus to lay by for future wants. The question arises: will our farmers now, in this day of prosperity, make any provision for a contingent failure, or a year of even scanty crops; or will they, as we are all apt to do, expect no worse crops than the present, or no poorer times than we now enjoy, and consequently, with their enlarged means, enlarge their expenditures, construct heavy improvements, and dispose of all the surplus, and let each year take care of itself. This latter course is the one we are most liable to fall into; and at the same time, the course that should not be adopted. Farming is, to a great extent, an uncertain business—one year very good, one year very bad it may be, others varying between these two grades. We of this valley have experienced all these vicisitudes. In 1857 we hardly raised enough for seed; in 1862 we have the largest crops ever produced on the same amount of land in the world. Then how necessary it is we should learn wisdom by the experience of the past; and instead of being lavish of our means, economize, and endeavor to be independent of all the world. We are led to these remarks from a limited knowledge of the vast indebtedness of our farmers. This indebtedness is generally in small sums—among neighbors, to store keepers, tradesmen, and the various branches of industry connected with farming—yet in the aggregate the amount is very large; but all feel able, and the great majority are able to fully meet these claims on them. We would, therefore, advocate especially the policy of—now our crops are good—of every farmer getting out of debt—pay up all your liabilities before contracting more—let some few improvements lay over, rather than not attain this end. All our branches of industry depends on the farmer—he ows the mechanic, the mechanic the dealer in his line of stock, the dealer the importer, and so on through all the ramifications of trade, and frequently the paying of one small debt by the farmer, passes along to the payment of perhaps five or six similar debts, on which they were all dependent. This fall there is no excuse for any one—all can pay their debts; and if all will take our advice, and just try it once, the satisfaction in their own feelings will be compensation enough to fully warrant the effort.

SALT WORKS IN COLUSA COUNTY.—Mr. John Heaton, Deputy County Assessor, has shown us a quantity of salt from the new salt works in the western part of this county. They are situated in Antelope Valley, on Grape Vine creek, and are about thirty miles south-west from Colusa. There are three salt springs that discharge the water from the side of a hill. Messrs. Sias, Cooper & Co., have for some time been experimenting with the water, and have constructed a number of extensive vats, into which it is conducted for evaporation. They are about erecting machinery for grinding the salt for table purposes. The salt brought here is in the form of pure white chrystals, very hard and bright. Ground fine it would make an excellent article of table salt. They have several tons evaporated at the springs now, and it bids fair to be a paying institution.—Colusa Sun.

REMAINS OF CALEB CAMERON FOUND. Some months ago Caleb Cameron, of the firm of Cameron, Whittier & Co., went up to Benicia with his brother, intending to return the same evening, but in getting on board the down boat, by some mischace he slipped and fell into the water. Efforts to save him were fruitless, and he was borne out of sight in the dark night. Guns were fired to raise the body, but without success. A few days since the remains were found in the tules, above Benicia, being indentifed by the watch and other jewelry on his person. The body has been brought to this city, and there will be a Masonic funeral, deceased having been a member of Mount Moriah Lodge No. 44 of F. and A. M., to which Lodge, if we remember rightly, he bequeathed a considerable sum of money. —S. F. Bulletin,

CONFESSION OF A SENATOR.—Since the adjournment of the Legislature, remarks the Amador Dispatch, Senator Soule, of San Francisco, was asked by a person unacquainted with the proceedings of the Legislature, what important legislation had taken place. "Well," said Soule, "we impeached Judge Hardy for a presumed offense against the United States when we didn't any of us know whether we had a right to or not, but we thought we'd try it on anywhow!"—Fol. Telegraph.

MR. WILZ, of Shasta, has 1,000 tobacco plants under cultivation. They are doing well.

State Agricultural Society.

The Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society held a regular monthly meeting yesterday at the Pavilion. President Haraszthy called the Board to order at nine o'clock A. M. Present—Grimm, Ryan, Hatch, Lowell, Knox and Wheeler. Dr. Crandall and Dr. Bascom, ex-Vice Presidents, were invited to seats. Communications were received from the California Steam Navigation Company tendering free transportation of stock, goods, etc, to be exhibited at the Fair, the freight to be first paid and the money refunded on certificate of exhibition; from R. J. Welsh of Colusa, regretting that his business will not admit of his serving on the Visiting Committee; from Dr. J. R. Crandall, accepting appointment on the Visiting Committee; from Senator Latham, announcing that on the 1st of June he dispatched a quantity of seeds to the office of the Society for distribution; from Mr. Thompson, Secretary of the Provincial Agricultural Society of Canada West, stating that he had sent books and documents, and asking exchanges, etc.; from J. M. Edmunds of the General Land Office at Washington, asking that specimens of minerals, soils, and other natural products of California may be forwarded to that office by private hands. A proposition was received from Barrett & Sherwood of San Francisco, proposing to furnish the silver ware for premiums at the next Fair, at the cost of manufacture, or at the cost in New York, with cost of transportation added; also from Samuel Jelly of Sacramento, proposing to furnish the same of the fineness of coin at three dollars per ounce, to include all the necessary engraving. Action on this subject was deferred. E. B. Ryan, from the Committee to confer with A. K. Grim as to the $492 raised by the promenade concert, reported that Grim said the money was raised for the specific purpose of ceiling the Pavilion, and he would not pay it over for any other purpose. The Committee thought the money could be better expended in other necessary repairs to the building. After discussion, the Committee was instructed to confer with the parties who arranged for the concert, and, if possible, obtain from them an order to expend the money on the building at the discretion of the Board. The Committee on Finance reported progress in negotiations for a loan from D. O. Mills & Co., on the appropriation from the State, the Society to pay compound interest on the loan at two per cent. per month. The subject was discussed, but no definite action was taken The Building Committee reported that the brick wall and the buildings at the Stock Grounds had been repaired according to contract and specifications. The bond of the Treasurer, F. W. Hatch, in $40 000, was approved; sureties, Drury Malone, C. H. Grimm and W. H. Barton. Dr. Hatch was introduced. The bill of Clark, $34 25, for cleaning and repairing the Society's rooms, was ordered to paid. The bill of Fitzpatrick, for plastering and whitewashing one room, $30, and for painting same $25, was referred to the Building Committee to investigate. The bill of William turton, $1,761, for brick work, etc., at the Stock Grounds, was ordered paid. The bill of John Rider, $1,181, for carpenter work at the same was refered to the Committee on the Stock Grounds, to investigate one or two of items. The Secretary, O C. Wheeler, reported that as he was wanted to travel with the Visiting Committee, it was necessary to leave a Clerk in the office, and proposed to pay a young man $25 per month, if the Board would pay balance; and on motion, the Board allowed $25 per month for four months to such assistant. The Secretary also reported that the Visiting Committee had been traveling through portions of San Joaquin, Stanislaus, Tuolumne and Calaveras and found agricultural matters in a very favorable and promising condition in those counties. On motion, $100 was appropriated for traveling expenses this month. The snbject of the floating indebtedness of the society was discussed at length, and a resolution was passed appropriating $2,500 for the payment pro rata of such floating indebtedness as may have been outstanding up to May 15th. Adjourned for dinner. In the afternoon, at a quarter before three o'clock the Board was again called to order, five members present. The propositions of Barrett & Sherwood and Samuel Jelly, to supply the silver ware for premiums were taken up, and after discussion Jelly's bid was accepted. The Publication Committee reported that the large poster for the Fiar had been printed, and the premium lists would be ready in a day or two. A resolution was passed to pay necessary current expenses in cash, and the Secretary's salary monthly, dating from May 15th, and setting apart a small contingent fund for expenses incident to preparations for the next Fair Adjourned until next regular meeting.—Union.

ST. GEORGE HOTEL PURCHASED.—The purchase of the St. George Hotel by the Trustees of the Odd Fellows' Association was consummated yesterday, and the first payment of $2,000 was made by the purchasers. The building is to be delivered into the possession of the purchasers between the 15th and 25th of July—$10,000 more of the purchase money to be paid on possession being given. The new proprietors are permitted by the terms of the sale to rent out the upper rooms for lodging purposes, by the month, but for no shorter period.—Union, July 1st.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of July 1st:

WASHINGTON, June 26.—A dispatch from McClellan's headquarters, dated June 25th, says:

"General Hooker at nine o'clock this morning advanced his division with a view to occupy a new position. His troops met with a most determined resistance from the enemy until four P. M., when the rebels were forced to give way. During the day everything indicated a general engagement. The loss on our side was about 200 killed and wounded. The enemy's loss is not known, but is considered equal to ours. The rebel camp in front of Gen. Hooker was captured, and is now occupied by our troops. The ground fought for was a swamp, with thick underbrush, beyond which is an open country. The woods intervening between our troops and the enemy prevents the results of our artillery firing being known. Efforts were made during the afternoon by the enemy to capture two Napoleon 12-poanders, under Capt. Delay, and resulted in their being driven back with severe loss. The result of today is highly important to the health of the army, as there is but little more ground to be gained to place the troops beyond the swamps."

CHICAGO, June 26.—McClellan telegraphs that all is quiet on the Chickahominy.

The forces under Fremont, Banks and McDowell have been consolidated in one army, called the "Army of Virginia." Gen. Pope has been especially assigned by the President to the chief command. Fremont, Banks and McDowell still remain in command of their respective corps.

Since the battle of Fair Oaks McClellan has been reinforced by McCall's division and other troops to the number of several thousand.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The Senate to-day passed a bill granting the proceeds of the sales of public lands in alternate sections on each side of the Northern Pacific Railroad to aid in its construction, beginning at Superior City, on Lake Superior, and thence to a point on the west line of Minnesota, and through the Territories to the head waters of the Columbia river, with a branch to Puget Sound. It is provided that no money shall be drawn from the treasury to build the said road unless it is derived from the sale of the lands. A Board of Engineers is appointed to locate the route provided for.

The following dispatches are from the Union's extra of July 3d, and is the very latest:

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The President has signed the Pacific Railroad Bill and the National Tax Bill.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The steamer Philadelphia, from Beaufort, S. C., and the Ericson, from Key West, on the 18th June, have arrived. The latter brings Gen. Benham and staff and 57 soldiers, who were wounded in the late engagement on James Island, near Charleston. The U S. troops under Gen. Benham made an attack on the morning of the 16th, and were repulsed after four hours hard fighting, with the loss 668 killed, wounded and missing. The 8th Michigan had but 250 men left at roll call. The N. Y. 79th also suffered severely. Our troops were obliged to retire under cover of the gunboats.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Tribune extra has a dispatch dated on the Battle field before Richmond, which says: "There was a most determined battle on our right wing on Thursday and Friday, which is claimed by some of our officers as a successful strategic movement, into which the enemy had unwillingly been drawn, and which will soon result in the capture of Rschmond and the entire rebel army. An attack was made by the enemy in immense force, who crossed the Chickahominy near the railroad, above Mechanicsville, on Thursday afternoon, and fought desperately, but were unable to drive our men a single rod.

Though the enemy were ten to one, the only force engaged that day on our side was McCalls Pennsylvania division. The battle lasted from 2 till 9, when the division was ordered back. Gen. McClellan was on the field, and expressed himself satisfied with the result."

A rebel Major belonging to Jackson's forces, who was captured, says that a part of Jackson's army arrived yesterday and the balance this morning. He said that in the attack on our right the rebels had 68,000 troops This will explain the enormous fire under which our troops were born down, especially as some of our regiments were swept away. At Fair Oaks yesterday, the Pennsylvania Reserve drove the attacking regiments of Jackson's command. To-day they were overpowered dy the same troops, reinforced by the remainder of Jackson's army. A regiment of regulars called up, proved unequal to the task of stopping them. Slough's command had to be added. The conduct of all the regiments sustaining this unequal action was good; they gave way, indeed, but not one of them ran. Their loss was enormous. The Eleventh Regular Infantry was about annihilated. The Fourteenth suffered severely.

Our loss in officers is very marked—indeed, disproportionate in number. So extraordinary was the obstinacy our troops, and so unyielding were they, that our loss is invitably large. The artillery in Porter's and Smith's divisions piled the rebels in heaps with terrible effect. Major Russels, of the regular, and Colonel Pratt, of New York, were killed.

Settling a Quarrel by Arms.

A disgraceful and fatal collision occurred at Sedalia, on the 26th, between a portion of Company F, of the First Missouri Artillery, and five companies of the Twenty-sixth Indiana Infantry, which came near resulting in a pitched battle. A Correspondent, describing the affair, says:

It appears that an old grudge was held between the Missouri Artillery and the Indiana Infantry, resulting from some foolish badinage which passed between them. Yesterday the Artillery returned from Butler, Bates county, and to-day some of them were in town, and being engaged in a bit of a spree, one of them fell out at a butcher by the name of Hoffman, and beat him, and was finally put in the guard house. Others of the Artillery took up the quarrel, and gave the butcher a beating, at which some of the Indiana boys took up the fight, and a general brickbatting and pistol shooting was the result. The parties determined to have real work of it; the Artillery got their guns in position bearing on the town shotted and ready to sweep the streets. The Indianians were drawn up in line by their several company commanders, and were about to deploy as skirmishers and capture the battery. At this juncture of affairs, Col. Wheatly arrived on the ground, and ordered the captain of the artillery under arrest, and sent the infantry back to their quarters. Had it not been for the timely arrival of Col. Wheatly, much blood might have been shed. As the affair now stands, private Walker Cummings, Co. I, of the 26th Indiana, is supposed to be mortally wounded, and a son of Capt. Jumper, of Co. K, is severely wounded in the leg; while of the artillery, Capt. Murphy is somewhat bruised about the head, Sargeant Lewis Dorman was stebbed in the neck and back, (not fatally, though severely), while another of the artillery—Wallace, I believe—is thought to be mortally wounded by a fracture of the skull.

THE St. Joseph Gazette says: "We wish there could be some arrangements made to stop horse-stealing.' Let there be a convention between the owners of the horses and the other party and perhaps some treaty stipulations might be effected and the matter thus "arranged."—St. Louis Republican.

RAIN.—From September 16th 1861, until June 18th 1862, a period of nine months, 129 inches of rain fell in Hoopa Valley, Klamath county, as per guage kept there.

THE COAL TRADE.—The coal tonnage last week was large, and is steadily increasing. The difficulty that interrupted operations in Schuylkill region has been healed, and the men have returned to their work. It is understood that the employers have conceded the increase of wages demanded, and it has been wisely suggested that hereafter wages shall be, at the beginning of each moeth, adjusted to the price of coal. If it goes up, that the pay of the miner shall increase with it, and if it goes down, that the miners shall uncomplainingly submit to a corresponding decrease of wages. The tonnage last week, without returns from the Delaware and Hudson canal, or the Pennsylvania Coal company, is 161,719 tons, increasing the tonnage of the year to 1,864,698 tons, being an increase of 214,627 tons over the tonnage of last year to the same time. All the indications favor a heavy coal tonnage at good prices, and a better market for iron than we have had for several years past. This will tell favorably on the securities connected with the coal and iron interests.—Philadelphia Ledger.

DIFFICULTY NEAR VALLEJO.—The Salmon Press of June 28th, says:

On Tuesday night last, certain squatters built a house in the field of Manuel Vara, near Vallejo. On Wednesday morning an armed party of about sixteen men were found protecting it from being taken away or destroyed. Shortly after that several landholders appeared upon the premises. Deputy Sheriff Chapman, of Vallejo, being notified that there was a riotous assembly there, went out and ordered all present to disperse; which being done, he left for Vallejo. Soon after the building was taken down, both parties being present, and many threats made, but nobody injured. Several arrests for malicious mischief were made.

THE grain crops are generally reported upon favorably over the State, and the yield in the aggregate, especially of wheat, it is now calculated will exceed that of last year, as the increased amount of high land under cultivation will more than compensate for the diminished yield or non cultivation of low land. As some proof of this, we are informed by a gentleman (one of our subscribers) living in Monterey county, that he knows personally of at least 25,000 acres of grain, mostly wheat being grown this year, between San Jose and Monterey, where there "was not a straw last year." One man alone has 2,500 acres.—Farmer.

CROP PROSPECTS IN ENGLAND.—It is estimated by the Mark Lane Express that sixty four million bushels of foreign grain will be needed to supply the English market alone from the first of May to the first of September. The same paper says: "Much barley, oats and other Spring crops remain unsown. The young wheat has already changed its appearance, being in many places rank, weak and unpromising." The continued damp weather there has caused samples of grain brought to market to be in a considerably damaged state, a general firmness is observable in the markets to under good foreign supplies.

LOST THEIR LIVES.—By a private letter received here we learn that about the 15th of May last, a Mr. Silvers and a Mr. Jacob's residents of Scott Valley, were drowed, near Florence City, by the upsetting of a canoe, while crossing the Salmon river. Mr. John Rice, from Scott river, while out with a prospecting party, fell over a precipice, nearly one hundred feet high, and was killed.—Yreka Journal.

HIGHT OF MOUNT DIABLO.—Prof. Whiteney has ascertained the high of Mount Diablo to be 3,881 feet above mean tide. This is about 500 feet less than the altitude of the ground on which stands the Big Tree Grove of Calaveras.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—By a late arrival at San Francisco we have the following intelligence:

The comparative failure of the harvest, and the low prices of grain following up the unsatisfactory results of agricultural operations for the last three years, have dealt a heavy blow to the farming interest of South Australia. The cereal exports of port Adelaide during the portion of the present year which has already passed, amounted to but £88,092 against the sum of £157,358 for the corresponding period of the previous year, being a decrease of £69,266. This has had the effect of reducing the territorial revenue, and created a marked dimunition in the proceeds of the sales of Government lands.

The copper mines are becoming very productive, and new discoveries of importance have been made, showing a large amount of surface ore.

A shock of earthquake was felt in the vicinity of Adelaide on the 19th day of March.

Seaver, who murdered Inspector Pettinger has been executed.

FROM MEXICO.—The last arrival from Acapulco brought the following items:

Mazatlan was blockaded by two French men-of war. They had threatened to bombard the city, when news was sent to them that if they did so all the French residents would be shot. This prevented the vessels from any attempt; but they will continue the blockade.

Matters generally in and around Acapulco continue quiet. Two British war vessels were there—the Clio and Devastation. They arrived from the westward the night previous to the sailing of the St. Lous.

The Devastation at Acapulco brought intelligence that just before her saling from Guaymas, news arrived from Tepic to the effect that the Church party who had held that place had promised to go against the common enemy (the French) if the liberal party would send reinforcements. Seven hundred of the best Government troops were sent in response, when suddenly they were set upon and 400 of their number massacred by the treacherous party inviting them.

The roads leading to the interior were infested by brigands who robbed all travelers. A gentleman had arrived at Acapulco who had been stopped on the road and robbed of all the money in his possession.

PEACH CROP IN SAN JOAQUIN.—The Stockton Independent says it has been estimated by the Visiting Committee of the State Agricultural Society that the yield of peaches from one orchard alone, in the immediate vicinity of that city, will amount in value from $10,000 to $15,000. The orchard referred to has escaped entirely the blight which destroyed so large a portion of the peach trees in other of the county.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Summons.

State of California, County of Yolo, ss.—Maria E. Chase vs. William H. Chase. Suit brought in the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of said State. Complaint filed therein March 12th, A. D. 1862. The People of the State of California to William H. Chase, greeting: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of Maria E. Chase in said Court, filed against you, in said Court, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you in this county, but if served on you without said county, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 12th day of March, 1862, in said Court, for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, upon the following grounds, to wit: She charges you with the crime of adultery committed by you with a lady named Stewart, in San Francisco, in December, 1861, and on divers days thereafter, and for costs. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

{L. S.} In testimony whereof, I, E. Giddings, Clerk of the Eleventh Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereunto set my hand and impress the seal of said Court, at office in Washington, this 25th day of March, A. D. 1862.

BUCKEYE MOWER.
Farmers Buy the Best Machine!!!
THE Buckeye has proved itself to be the best Mower, and
MOWER & REAPER COMBINED,
That has ever yet been brought into use. It has the following advantages over other Machines:
It has two driving wheels which support the whole weight of the frame, gearing, driver and raker.
It has a double hinged finger-bar, belonging exclusively to the Buckeye Mower, which conforms to all varieties of surface, and can be easily raised to pass obstructions.
It has no cog gearing in the driving wheels—it is entirely free from side draft—the draft is lighter than ordinary ploughing.
As a REAPER, it has all the advantages of the Mower. The Reed is attached with a flexible joint, which allows it to follow all the movements of the Platform on uneven ground. The platform is readily adjusted to any required height of cut. The weight of the Raker is directly over the axel of the machine instead of being carried on the Platform, where it adds greatly to the side draft. It has many other Improvements over the old style Mower and Reapers.

POETRY.

Good Night.

Downward sinks the setting sun,
Soft th' evening shadow fall;
Light is flying,
Day is dying,
Darkness stealeth over all—
Good night!

Autumn garners in her stores—
Prison of the fading year;
Leaves are dying,
Winds are sighing—
Whispering of the winter near—
Good night!

Youth is vanished, manhood wanes,
Age its forward shadow throws;
Day is dying,
Years are flying.
Life runs onward to its close—
Good night!

THE school of the cross is the school of light; it discovers the world's vanity, baseness and wickedness, and lets us see more of God's mind. Out of dark afflictions comes a spiritual light.

YOUNG Peabody fell in love yesterday—he says he felt like a barrel of new maple sugar sliding down a rainbow, greased with butter at forty cents a pound.

A writer of a love tale, in describing his heroine says; "innocence dwells in the rich curls of her dark hair!" We think it would stand a pretty smart chance of being combed out.

IT is better to acquiesce in the opinions of a conceited fool, than try to convince him of their falsity, by reason or argument.

"A MAN can't help what is done behind his back," as the scamp said when he was kincked out of doors.

IT is a good thing to laugh, at any rate; and if a straw can tickle a man, it is an instrument of happiness.

SOFT soap in some shape pleases all; and generally speaking the more lie you put into it the better.

THERE are many people whose whole wisdom consists in hiding their want of it.

THE worst of all kinds of eye-water is a coquette's tears.

BLUSHES are "flying colors," which maidens wear becomingly.

THE battle of Chippewa was fought July 5th, 1814.

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines.

Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do; Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower:

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

he Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower,

(Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter, The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools

Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.

All kinds of Farming Implements, Hardware and Seeds.

We are determined not to be undersold by any other house in the State; and invite customers to call and examine for themselves at our
